

Charles Maddux, MD

Dr. Charles Maddux is a talented ophthalmologist and eye surgeon. He has a special interest in cataract surgery, as well as refractive lens and retinal care, that helps patients become independent from glasses. Dr. Maddux became a full Cascadia Eye partner in 2022 and because of his friendly, accessible manner and meticulous skillset, he is a favorite with patients.

Dr. Maddux is also skilled in minor lid surgeries, including blepharoplasty and lesion excisions. He performs intravitreal injections of medications for conditions such as diabetic retinopathy and macular degeneration, and a variety of laser surgeries, including YAG lasers, SLT, and other procedures for the retina.
